- (u) restrict the movement of an animal in any way that causes it pain, suffering, fear or injury.

(3) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary provided in subsections (1) and (2), any person may carry out any necessary procedure or do anything necessary –

- (a) for the health and protection of an animal, the control of pests and the control of human and animal diseases;
- (b) to control the movement of an animal raised for production purposes through the use of electric shocks and the setting up of electric fences.

(4) A person who contravenes any provision of this section commits an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine of one hundred thousand dollars and to imprisonment for six months.

Protection of animals while kept or raised.

5. An owner who -

- (a) abandons an animal, whether domestic, companion, wild or otherwise, kept under his control;
- (b) exposes a raised or cultivated wild animal to the wild or settle it in the wild, unless prepared for survival in such environment, in accordance with a special programme; or
- (c) inflicts pain, suffering or injury upon an animal during training, commits an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine of fifty thousand dollars and to imprisonment for three months.

Obligation to render assistance.

6. (1) Any person who injures an animal shall render all necessary assistance to the animal or arrange for assistance to be provided.

(2) Any person who contravenes subsection (1) commits an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine of fifty thousand dollars and to imprisonment for three months.

Protection of animals during health care provision and zoo technical interventions.

7. (1) A person shall conduct all surgical or technical interventions on animals, using anaesthesia, in compliance with the current standards of the veterinary practice.

(2) A person who fails to comply with subsection (1) commits an offence.

Interventions on animals.

8. (1) Except as otherwise provided in this section the partial or total amputation of a sensitive part of the body of an animal shall be prohibited, including –

- No. 7 of 2011.
- (a) the marking of an animal contrary to the Animal Health Act;
 - (b) ear cropping and tail docking in dogs, declawing of cats, devocalisation and other interventions aimed at changing the phenotypic appearance of the animal.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary provided in this Act the partial or total amputation or removal of a sensitive part of the body of an animal shall be permitted -

- (a) where performed with prior anaesthesia and post-operative analgesia and where it is necessary for animal health and safety, experiments on animals, zoo technical purposes and controlling the reproduction of animals and to prevent pain, suffering, self-injury or injury to other animals;
- (b) in the case of a hunting dog, where it is done in compliance with specified kennel standards.

(3) A person shall not use anaesthesia –

- (a) when the risks posed by anaesthesia would be disproportionate to its benefits;
- (b) during the marking of animals, unless necessary for the safety of the person carrying out the marking;
- (c) in certain diagnostic and therapeutic procedures in accordance with accepted standard of veterinary practice;
- (d) when the pain caused by anaesthesia is greater than that caused by the intervention itself;
- (e) when it is incompatible with the results hoped to be achieved by the experiment.

Protection of animals at the time of humane killing.

9. (1) A person may humanely kill an animal when -

- (a) medical treatment of the animal is likely to be long lasting, cause suffering and the outcome of the treatment is uncertain;
- (b) the animal has reached an advanced age and its vital functions are failing;
- (c) the animal is suffering from an incurable disease;
- (d) it is necessary for the implementation of disease control measures generally and in particular for diseases that threatens humans and is likely to cause great economic damage;
- (e) the animal constitutes a danger to the community;
- (f) it is done for the purpose of pest control;
- (g) it is necessary for the purpose of performing an experiment on the animal or producing biological preparations or after the completion of the experiment or after using the animal for the production of biological preparations;
- (h) the animal kept or bred for production purposes is sick or injured, and slaughter or humane killing under the veterinarian's supervision is not possible.
- (i) the animal is injured and unlikely to recover or to recover without suffering unduly.

(2) The owner of an animal, after consultation with a veterinarian, may decide to humanely kill the animal in keeping with subsection (1) (a) and (b) except in the case of subsection (1) (h) where the owner may humanely kill in his sole discretion.

(3) A veterinarian in his sole discretion may humanely kill an animal in the cases referred to in subsection (1) (c) to (g).

(4) The humane killing of an animal, generally, shall be carried out by a veterinarian or qualified veterinary technician under the supervision of a veterinarian, except where otherwise provided for and in the following cases –

- (a) the humane killing of animals bred or kept for production purposes;
- (b) the humane killing of animals for the purposes of teaching, conducting experiments or producing biological preparations;
- (c) pest control;
- (d) when it is necessary to humanely kill an animal without delay because it suffers severe and incurable pain.

Humane killing without delay.

10. (1) The owner of an animal that suffers from severe and incurable pain shall, without delay, have the animal humanely killed.

(2) An owner of an animal who fails to comply with subsection (1) commits an offence.

Protection of animals during transport.

11. (1) No person shall transport any animal without the permission of the competent authority and without a certificate of approval of means of transport issued by the competent authority.

(2) A transporter shall personally or through a designated agent be responsible for the safety, feeding, watering and resting of the animals during transport.

(3) A transporter when transporting animals shall comply with the following conditions -

- (a) steps must be taken in advance to minimise the length of the journey and of any delay, and to meet the animals' needs during the journey;
- (b) the animals must be fit for the journey;

- (c) the means of transport must be designed, constructed, maintained and operated so as to avoid injury and suffering and to ensure the safety of the animals;
- (d) the loading and unloading facilities and equipment must be designed, constructed, maintained and operated so as to avoid pain, suffering and injury and ensure the safety of the animals;
- (e) the conditions of the means of transport of animals must be regularly checked and maintained;
- (f) sufficient floor area and height must be provided for the animals, appropriate to their species and age and the length of the journey;
- (g) water and feed must be offered to the animals at suitable intervals and must be appropriate in quality and quantity to the species, size and age of the animals;
- (h) during the journey, the animals must be rested at appropriate intervals;
- (i) in the case of aquatic animals transported in special means of transport or containers, a sufficient quantity of water of appropriate temperature and an adequate oxygen supply must be provided during transport, depending on the needs of the particular animal species;
- (j) late-pregnant females during a period equal to ten percent of the length of gestation before giving birth, and females during one week after giving birth shall not be considered fit for transport, except when emergency veterinary treatment is needed;
- (k) when the upright position of a container in which animals are transported is not readily visible from outside, the said position must be indicated by a sign;

- (1) where it is not apparent from the nature of a container that live animals are carried in it, the container must be clearly marked to indicate that it contains live animals as well as the species of those animals.

(4) All persons handling animals at an assembly centre or resting points shall be trained in the care of animals.

(5) The competent authority shall keep a register of transporters of animals.

(6) Notwithstanding anything in this section to the contrary, a farmer may using his own vehicle transport his own animal for not more than fifty kilometres from any holding.

(7) The competent authority shall keep a register of resting points for animals transported.

(8) A person who fails to comply with subsections (1), (3) or (4) commits an offence.

Humane transportation of animals.

12. A person shall not transport animals in a way that causes the animals' pain, suffering, injury or death.

Protection of wild animals.

13. (1) A person commits an offence, if the person -

- (a) tortures a wild animal;
- (b) restrains a wild animal from satisfying its physiological needs;
- (c) prevents a wild animal from accessing water or any part of the habitat essential for the survival of a species;
- (d) fences any area, contaminates any water, chases away any wild animal thereby preventing it from accessing water and excluding it from its natural habitat;

- (e) destroys an entire habitat or portions thereof, essential to the survival of a species;
- (f) introduces into the habitat of a wild animal any dangerous alien animal species likely to destroy the animal in the wild;
- (g) captures or kills live animals in the wild in a way that may cause them lengthy suffering, unless justified for reasons of scientific research or for the purpose of helping a population;
- (h) does anything that will have harmful consequences on wild animals.

(2) Any public institution charged with the responsibility of managing protected parts of nature inhabited by wild animals shall ensure that –

- (a) all necessary conditions are satisfied for biological survival of a natural population consistent with ecological balance;
- (b) any disturbance of an existing or new habitat of wild animals shall be reasonably restored;
- (c) veterinary healthcare is available when necessary for the wild animals in the protected area; and
- (d) all activities shall be conducted in accordance with the Protected Areas Act.

No. 14 of 2011

PART III
PROTECTION AT THE TIME OF SLAUGHTER OR HUMANE KILLING

Stunning of animals.

14. (1) Except in the case of poultry and rabbits slaughtered for private domestic consumption, a person shall stun all animals before slaughtering.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1), a person may slaughter an animal without prior stunning in cases of emergency slaughter or slaughter according to religious rites.

(3) Stunning equipment or methods that cause or are likely to cause pain, suffering or fear to animals shall not be used.

(4) The Minister shall by regulations prescribe the methods of stunning and the equipment to be used.

(5) A person who fails to comply with subsections (1) or (3) commits an offence.

The handling of animals in slaughterhouses.

15. (1) All persons handling animals in a slaughterhouse shall comply with the following requirements -

- (a) the unloading of animals at a slaughterhouse must be done using suitable equipment and in a manner that minimises pain, suffering or fear in the animal;
- (b) the moving of animals within the precincts of the slaughterhouse to their lairages must be done with care and without causing pain, suffering or fear, with the use of suitable tools;
- (c) slaughterhouses must be equipped with suitable stalls and pens where animals are to be kept, protected from adverse weather conditions, fed and given water.

(2) A person who slaughters an animal shall do so in the manner and with the use of the equipment prescribed.

Slaughtering and humane killing.

16. (1) A person conducting the humane killing of an animal shall do so in a way as to avoid unnecessary pain, suffering, injury or fear to the animal.

(2) Animals may be moved, lairaged and cared for in the slaughterhouse, restrained, stunned, slaughtered or humanely killed only by persons who are trained to perform these tasks.

(3) A person who slaughters an animal for private domestic consumption shall ensure that the animal be slaughtered in a way as to spare the animal any unnecessary pain, suffering, injury or fear, in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(4) Where, in the case of emergency slaughter, stunning is not possible, a person shall carry out a slaughter in a way as to spare the animals any unnecessary pain, suffering, injury or fear.

(5) A person who slaughter according to religious rite shall do so in a slaughterhouse specially approved by the competent authority for that purpose.

(6) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence.

PART IV ANIMAL WELFARE COMMISSION

Establishment and composition of Commission.

17. The Minister shall establish an Animal Welfare Commission which shall comprise no less than eight and no more than twelve members drawn from experts from the following disciplines, veterinary medicine, human medicine, biology, pharmacy, biochemistry and agronomy, as well as representatives from the animal protection associations.

Functions of the Commission.

18. (1) The Animal Welfare Commission shall –

- (a) issue opinions on proposals for legislation in the field of animal protection;

- (b) advise the Minister on current scientific and technical developments in the field of animal welfare;
- (c) prepare and submit to the Minister not later than the end of March in any current year, an annual report on its work for the preceding year;
- (d) provide opinions on matters relating to animal protection when requested by competent state administration bodies.

(2) The Animal Welfare Commission shall establish its rules of procedure.

PART V
THE KEEPING OF ANIMALS USED FOR PRODUCTION PURPOSES

Principles for the keeping of animals.

19.(1) A person may keep an animal for production purposes if its biological needs can be met in a way that does not impede its physiological functions and behaviour.

(2) The owner of an animal kept for production purposes shall, taking into consideration the age, species, degree of development, adaptation and domestication of the animal ensure that it has adequate food, care, space and land for freedom of movement and accommodation appropriate to its physiological and ethological needs.

(3) Any person who wishes to keep an animal for production purposes shall register with the Authority.

(4) A person who keeps animals for commercial production purposes shall have training or experience in caring for such animals.

Care of ill or injured animals.

20. (1) An owner shall, without delay, care for any animal which shows signs of illness or is injured and, where necessary, ensure that the animal receives veterinary attention.

(2) The owner of an ill or injured animal shall place that animal in accommodation appropriate to its needs and, where necessary, in a separate area or pen.

(3) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence.

Movement of animals.

21. (1) A person shall not restrict the movement of an animal in such a way as to cause it unnecessary pain, suffering, fear or injury.

(2) The owner of an animal kept on a tether shall-

- (a) allow that animal a daily time off the tether so that the animal can move freely in accordance with its physiological and ethological needs;
- (b) allow the animal ease of movement; and
- (c) not subject the animal to pain, suffering, fear or injury.

(3) A person who cares for domestic animals and farmed wild animals shall provide the animals with suitable facilities or shelters to move around and with an adequate running and grazing area.

(4) A person shall not tether a wild animal, except for –

- (a) veterinary-health or safety reasons; and
- (b) the training of raptors for falconry.

(5) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence.

Feeding and watering.

22. (1) A person who cares for an animal shall ensure that the type, quality and quantity of feed provided to that animal is appropriate to the species, age and physiological needs of the animal.

(2) The owner of an animal shall provide the animal with access to sufficient quantities of drinking water of suitable quality according to its ecological needs.

(3) The owner of an animal shall-

- (a) keep all feeding and watering facilities, and equipment clean; and
- (b) equip all facilities in such a way that the animal can take food and water in a manner appropriate to its species.

(4) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine of twenty-five thousand dollars and in the case of a second or subsequent conviction to a fine of fifty thousand dollars and to imprisonment for one month.

(5) Notwithstanding the other provisions of this section, a court convicting a person of an offence under this section, may, in addition to imposing a fine, make an order requiring the person convicted to perform community service for such period not exceeding six months in lieu of imprisonment and for such number of hours each day, excluding public holidays, as are specified in the order and where any such order is made the provisions of section 3(2) to section 7, inclusive, of the Extra-Mural Work Act shall, mutatis mutandis, apply as if the order were an extramural work order made under section 3 of that Act.

Cap. 11:02

Construction and equipment of animal houses.

23. (1) Any person constructing an animal house shall-
- (a) use materials and equipment which are -
 - (i) not harmful to the animal nor adversely affect its health; and
 - (ii) easy to clean and, where necessary, disinfect;
 - (b) ensure that the animal house, enclosures and equipment are constructed so that there are no sharp corners, edges or protrusions likely to cause injury to animals.

(2) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine of twenty-five thousand dollars and in the case of a second or subsequent conviction to a fine of fifty thousand dollars and to imprisonment for one month.

Animals not kept in buildings.

24. (1) Where animals are temporarily or permanently not kept in buildings, the owner shall, where necessary, provide –

- (a) adequate shelter from adverse weather and climatic conditions; and
- (b) protection from predators and other risks that threatens their health and well-being.

(2) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine of twenty-five thousand dollars and in the case of a second or subsequent conviction to a fine of fifty thousand dollars and to imprisonment for one month.

Inspection of animals and equipment.

25.(1) The owner of animals shall ensure that animals kept on holdings or in husbandry systems in which their health and welfare depend on human care must be inspected on a regular basis, at least once per day.

(2) To enable the animals to be inspected at any time, the owner shall provide adequate lighting to the extent necessary for the care and inspection of the animals.

(3) The owner of animals shall regularly inspect all automated and mechanical equipment essential for maintaining the health of the animals, at least once per day.

(4) Where defects are discovered, the owner shall rectify them immediately, or if this is impossible, provide backup equipment to preserve the health and well-being of the animals.

Records.

26. (1) The owner of animals shall maintain a record of medical treatment given to each animal and the number of animals that died or was killed.

(2) The owner shall-

- (a) retain records required to be maintained under subsection

- (1) for at least one year; and
- (b) make the records available to the competent authority on request within that period.
- (3) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence.

PART VI

TREATMENT OF NON-AMBULATORY ANIMALS

Animals on farm or feedlot.

27. (1) Where an animal on a farm or feedlot becomes non ambulatory but continues to eat and drink, the owner shall provide, water, and shelter and contact a veterinarian to determine the appropriate course of action and where the animal's condition is obviously irreversible, the animal shall be humanely euthanized.

(2) Before transport off the farm or feedlot, the owner shall evaluate each animal's fitness to travel and non-ambulatory animals shall not be moved off the premises except for the purpose of receiving veterinary treatment.

(3) The following animals at high risk for becoming non ambulatory shall not be transported off the farm unless for the purpose of treatment –

- (a) pregnant females for whom ninety percent or more of the expected gestation period had passed;
- (b) females who have given birth in the previous week;
- (c) pigs of less than three weeks;
- (d) lambs of less than one week; and
- (e) calves of less than ten days of age.

(4) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence.

Animals at market feedlot.

28. (1) A person in charge of a livestock market shall cause all market employees of the livestock market to be trained in proper animal care and handling.

(2) All animals received at livestock market facilities shall be assessed for fitness by a licensed veterinarian, and non-ambulatory animals shall not be accepted for marketing.

(3) A person in charge of a livestock market shall have, at the livestock market, written policies, procedures and equipment in place for handling animals that become non-ambulatory after delivery to the facility.

(4) A person in charge of a livestock market shall cause animals becoming non-ambulatory on the premises of a livestock market to be humanely euthanized or provided with treatment as prescribed by a licensed veterinarian without delay.

(5) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence.

Animals at slaughterhouses or abattoirs.

29. (1) A person in charge of a slaughterhouse or abattoir shall ensure that non-ambulatory animals are not accepted for slaughter at a slaughterhouse or abattoir:

Provided that a non-ambulatory animal may be unloaded at a slaughterhouse or abattoir for the purpose of euthanasia where the procedure cannot be safely performed on the transport vehicle.

(2) A person in charge of a slaughterhouse or abattoir shall cause animals that arrive at a slaughterhouse or abattoir in a non-ambulatory condition, or which go down after arrival, to be euthanized immediately and not be taken for slaughter.

(3) Non-ambulatory animals shall be separated from ambulatory animals to prevent injury.

(4) A person shall not cause a non-ambulatory animal to be thrown, dragged or pulled by the neck or other extremity, or pushed with equipment but shall cause them to be moved with a sling or on a stone boat or other sled like or wheeled conveyance.

(5) Euthanasia, if required, shall be performed by a competent and trained individual by a single blow of a penetrating captive bolt or gunshot or by chemical means that immediately render the animal unconscious with complete unconsciousness persisting until death.

(6) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence.

PART VII PROTECTION OF COMPANION ANIMALS

Protection of companion animals.

30. (1) A person shall keep companion animals in conditions appropriate to their needs.

(2) A person shall not sell companion animals to persons under the age of eighteen years.

(3) A person shall not keep and handle a companion animal, or allow it to move, in a way that poses a risk to the health and safety of other animals and people, in particular children.

(4) The owner of a companion animal shall ensure the controlled reproduction of the animal which is under his control.

(5) Any owner of a companion animal shall take care of the offspring or bear the costs of its care.

(6) A person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section commits an offence.

Breeders of companion animals.

31. (1) Where a person wishes to breed three or more companion animals for the purpose of selling the animals, the person shall apply to the competent authority for permission before he commences breeding the animals.

(2) The competent authority shall keep a register of breeders referred to in subsection (1).

(3) A person who fails to comply with subsection (1) commits an offence.

Temporary housing of companion animals.

32. (1) Any person may with the approval of the competent authority establish a temporary facility for the housing of companion animals.

(2) The competent authority shall keep a register of the facilities for the temporary housing of companion animals.

(3) A person who fails to comply with subsection (1) commits an offence.

Protection of animals in zoological gardens.

33. (1) No one shall establish a zoological garden without first obtaining the permission of the competent authority.

(2) Upon receipt of permission from the competent authority, the person may proceed to establish, operate and manage the zoological garden in accordance with the outlining requirements regulations prescribed in section 39(2) and any relevant provision of the Regulations made under the Wildlife Conservation and Management Act.

No. 22 of 2016.

(3) The competent authority shall keep a register of zoological gardens.

(4) The owner or administrator of a zoological garden shall ensure that –

- (a) animal housing facilities are adequate for each animal species kept in the zoological garden;
- (b) outdoor exercise enclosures are provided where necessary;
- (c) each animal receives an adequate daily supply of feed and water;
- (d) veterinary health care is available to the animals when necessary;
- (e) each animal receives humane treatment by staff members;
